OFA Fiscal Note

State Impact: Minimal Cost and Potential Minimal Revenue Gain (Criminal Injuries Compensation Fund, Conservation Fund)

Affected Agencies: Judicial Department, Department of Environmental Protection

Municipal Impact: None

Explanation*State Impact:

This bill could result in minimal cost and minimal revenue gain to the state by establishing the crime of negligent hunting. This bill establishes different degrees for negligent hunting, including class A, B and C misdemeanors and a class D felony. The bill also establishes a new crime of engaging in hunting while under the influence of or impaired by drugs or alcohol and makes it a class A misdemeanor. This could result in a cost to the criminal justice system. The extent to which this may occur is unknown, but is anticipated to be minimal. Under the bill, any revenue from fines collected related to the class D felonies or class A misdemeanors would be placed into the Criminal Injuries Compensation Fund. Revenue from fines collected related to the class B or C misdemeanors would be placed into the Conservation Fund. The extent of any revenue gain is unknown, but is anticipated to be minimal.

In 1999, under current hunting laws, according to court statistics, there were approximately 354 offenses, and approximately $15,500 in revenue from fines was collected. According to Department of Correction reports, in 1999, there was 1 incarceration for violation of current hunting laws.

Enforcement of the changes in the hunting laws will be handled by Department of Environmental Protection Conservation Officers during the course of their routine duties.

OLR Bill Analysis

sHB 5059

AN ACT CONCERNING HUNTING SAFETY.*SUMMARY:

This bill creates the crimes of negligent hunting and hunting while under the influence or impaired. It imposes enhanced penalties for persistent offenders. It generally requires the person arrested for these crimes to surrender his weapon.

By law, a hunter whose license has been suspended for violation of hunting laws must complete a remedial hunter education course designed by the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) before his license can be reinstated. The bill additionally requires the hunter to demonstrate that he has passed a conservation education/firearms safety course or its equivalent, as specified by DEP.

EFFECTIVE DATE: October 1, 2000

NEGLIGENT HUNTING

The bill establishes four degrees of negligent hunting. Hunting is:

1. pursuing, shooting, killing, and capturing a bird, four-legged animal, or reptile, or trying to do these things, whether or not this results in taking the animal or
2. any act of assistance in taking or attempting to take such an animal.

The bill establishes, as prima facie evidence that someone was hunting, his possession of a loaded hunting weapon while at, entering, or leaving an area where a reasonable person would believe the objective was to take wildlife.

But, the bill allows a person to possess a loaded long gun one hour before sunrise during deer and turkey firearms season if it does not have a live round in it.

A loaded hunting weapon is:

1. a long gun with a live round in the chamber or in a magazine attached to the gun,
2. a muzzle-loaded gun with a percussion cap in place,
3. a flintlock firearm with powder in the pan,
4. a bow with an arrow notched on it,
5. a drawn crossbow with a bolt in place, or
6. a high velocity air gun charged with a projectile in the chamber or in an attached magazine.

First Degree

A person is guilty of negligent hunting in the first degree when, with criminal negligence, he shoots a loaded hunting weapon and kills someone while hunting. Criminal negligence means failing to perceive a substantial and unjustifiable risk that a result or circumstance described in a statute will occur.

Negligent hunting is a class D felony subject to imprisonment of one to five years, of which one year may not be suspended or reduced, a fine of up to $5,000, or both. In addition, DEP can suspend the hunter's license indefinitely.

Second Degree

A person is guilty of this crime when, with criminal negligence, he (1) violates the law against jacklighting for deer or (2) shoots a loaded hunting weapon and causes serious physical injury to another person. A serious physical injury is one that creates a substantial risk of death or that causes serious (1) disfigurement, (2) impairment of health, or (3) loss or impairment of a bodily organ's function. The offense is a class A misdemeanor. The offender must be fined between $400 and $2,000 and can be imprisoned for up to one year. In addition, DEP can suspend his license for up to 10 years.

Third Degree

A person is guilty of this crime if he, while hunting:

1. fires a loaded hunting weapon at a time of day when hunting is prohibited,
2. hunts on Sundays, or outside of hunting season;
3. shoots a firearm from a vehicle;
4. hunts with a suspended license; or
5. shoots an occupied dwelling.

This crime is a class B misdemeanor. The hunter must be fined $200 to $1,000 and can be imprisoned up to six months. In addition, DEP can suspend his license for up to five years.

Fourth Degree

A person is guilty of this crime if he, while hunting:

1. hunts without buying the license, permit, or stamp required by law;
2. possesses a loaded hunting weapon during a time of day when hunting is prohibited;
3. hunts from or fires a hunting weapon across a public highway.

A person is also guilty of this crime if he hunts with or fires a firearm within (1) 250 feet of building occupied by people or domestic animals or used to store flammable or combustible material or (2) 125 feet of any of these buildings while hunting in tidal water. This provision does not apply if the hunter is carrying the written authorization of the building's owner.

The crime is a class C misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment for up to three months, a fine of up to $500, or both. In addition, DEP can suspend the hunter's license for up to three years.

Allocation of Fines

Under the bill, fines for first-and second-degree negligent hunting go to the Criminal Injuries Compensation Fund. Fines for third-and fourth-degree negligent hunting go to the Conservation Fund, for land management or acquisition of hunting easements.

HUNTING WHILE UNDER THE INFLUENCE OR IMPAIRED

Elements of the Crime

The bill prohibits hunting while under the influence of or impaired by alcohol or drugs. A person is considered impaired if his blood alcohol content at the time of the offense was .07% to .10%. A person is considered under the influence if his BAC is above .10%. If he has been previously convicted of hunting under the influence the threshold is .07%. A person can also be found to be under the influence independent of his BAC.

The bill allows DEP enforcement officers to arrest people for this crime.

Alcohol Testing Procedures

The bill extends the laws regarding alcohol tests that currently apply to drunk boating to hunting while under the influence or while impaired. The law specifies that the arresting officer determine whether to give a blood, breath, or urine test; if the person is unwilling or unable to submit to a blood test, the officer must designate a breath or urine test. If the person refuses to submit to the test, none is administered. The refusal to submit to a test is admissible in court if the person was (1) placed under arrest, (2) informed of his constitutional rights, (3) given an opportunity to call a lawyer, and (4) informed that refusal is admissible and can be used against him.

Admissibility of Test Results

As under the boating laws, the test results are admissible if:

1. the hunter was given a chance to call a lawyer and submitted to the test;
2. a true copy of the test result was mailed or delivered to the defendant within 24 hours or the end of the next business day after the result is known, whichever is later;
3. the test was performed by or at the direction of a law enforcement officer, using methods and equipment approved by the Department of Public Health (DPH);
4. the test was performed by a person certified for this purpose by DPH or recertified by a DPH-certified instructor;
5. any blood sample was taken by a medical professional with specified credentials;
6. the testing device was checked for accuracy by a DPH-certified person at the beginning and by the end of the workday; and
7. evidence is presented that demonstrates that the BAC at the time of the test accurately reflected the BAC at the time of the alleged offense.

In addition, a second test of the same type must be administered at least 30 minutes after the first test and the testing device was checked for accuracy by DPH-certified person. But, the results of the first test can be admitted if reasonable efforts were made to conduct the second test, even if the second test was not performed, was not performed within a reasonable time, or fails to meet the other criteria.

Penalties

Violation of the bill's drunk hunting provisions is a class A misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment for up to one year, a fine of up to $2,000, or both. The fines go to the Criminal Injuries

Compensation Fund. In addition, DEP can suspend the hunter's license indefinitely.

PERSISTENT OFFENDERS

Under the bill, a person convicted of (1) negligent hunting in the first, second, or third degree or (2) hunting while impaired or under the influence within five years of a conviction of negligent hunting is considered a persistent negligent hunter. A persistent negligent hunter must be fined at least twice the minimum provided for the second violation, that is, $400 for a conviction of negligent hunting in third degree and $800 for a conviction of negligent hunting in the second degree. The hunter also is subject to the penalties for the next more serious degree of negligent hunting or hunting while impaired or under the influence. The provision has no effect with regard to the drunk hunting crimes, since they have only one degree and no minimum fine. It appears that any fine imposed on a persistent offender would go to the General Fund.

SURRENDER OF WEAPON

The bill requires anyone arrested for negligent hunting in the first, second, or third degree or hunting under the influence or impaired to surrender any weapon in his possession. The police or conservation officer must confiscate the weapon at the time of the arrest. If the hunter is acquitted or the charge is dismissed or nolle, the weapon must be returned in the same condition as when it was confiscated.

If the hunter is convicted, the weapon must be turned over to DEP. DEP can (1) retain the weapon for agency use; (2) convey to the Department of Administrative Services for sale at auction, with the proceeds going to the Criminal Injuries Compensation Fund; or (3) destroy the weapon.

These provisions do not apply to weapons used to jacklight deer, which are already subject to separate disposition procedures.
